Enclosure: Staff Report and Ordinance

Unified Subdivision Ordinance Amendment #12 UPDATED APPLICATIONS, FORMS AND DEFINITION OF LOT

Staff Report
September 9, 2021

NEW AND UPDATED USO APPLICATION FORMS:

Most of our required subdivision forms reside in Appendix A of the Unified Subdivision Ordinance (USO), including public hearing forms for legal ads, notices to interested parties and sign posting. Over the years we have added subdivision replacement public hearing forms to the APC Bylaws without removing the old ones in the USO. This has caused some confusion even though Section A2 states at the end of Appendix A ...

The Commission shall determine the need for, and the form of any additional or amended applications, requests for plat approval, notices, affidavits, certificates, endorsements and instruments as may be required in the enforcement of the regulations of this ordinance.

All the current required forms are on our website. However, we have needed to revise and add to the subdivision application forms for some time. Specifically, construction plan forms are needed, as well as Rural Estate, primary approval extension, and variance application forms. Staff has now updated and created new application forms in keeping with the revisions to the USO over the years. These thirteen new forms are listed in the attached ordinance amendment. All are fillable PDF documents that can be edited, saved and printed for submission. As of last month's amendment, these new forms are now part of the APC Bylaws. This USO amendment will remove the old forms from Appendix A in the subdivision ordinance and point to the new forms in the Bylaws.

USO LOT DEFINITION SYNCED WITH THE UZO

For many years the vague definition of LOT* in the Unified Subdivision Ordinance has not been synchronized with the Unified Zoning Ordinance (UZO). Technically, this has not been a problem since the UZO provisions always control over the USO (see USO Section 1.7-2-a). However, because the definition of LOT has recently been amended in the UZO and because the USO required the application forms amendment, staff felt it appropriate to finally bring this crucial definition in the USO up to date and avoid any future misunderstanding.

STAFF RECOMMENDATION:

Approval

* LOT. A tract, plot, portion of a subdivision, parcel, or other piece of land intended as a unit for the purpose, whether immediate or future, of transfer of ownership or of building development.
